Hey Rishiraj,

I found your GitHub profile while searching for blockchain projects.

I'm part of an online program for builders called Backdrop Build, and I think that program would be a great fit given what you are building. We have a track for builders like you, it's fully online/remote and costs nothing to participate. It also works if you have a day job, it's light on time and great for side projects!

You can expect to meet other builders, and support from cool tech companies like NEAR Protocol, Privy, Base, Pinata, and many more.. We also distribute $50,000+ in grants to the best projects to help them keep building. If you're interested, you can read more at https://backdropbuild.com/faq and apply here: https://backdropbuild.com/. If you apply, let me know so I can follow your journey in the program!

Happy to answer questions, too, just hit reply!

Joey

Thank you for considering my project worthy of being noticed!

I consider myself very inexperienced and i am learning because i like tech and learning itself, would i be able to learn something new here? Also i am having an internship and college that is why i am asking.
I only want to learn from people at this stage of my life...
Please guide me...
Once again thanks a lot for contacting me!
